

SIGNS YOUR CAT HAS OSTEOARTHRITIS

Big leaps

Small jumps

What to do
Provide steps to climb up

Plays

Sleeps more

What to do
Provide gentle active play

Bounds up stairs

Reluctant to climb stairs

What to do
Provide easy stair free access to all resources

Jumps easily

Reluctant to jump

What to do
Provide steps to climb down

Grooms easily

Difficulty grooming

What to do
Provide gentle grooming

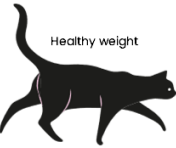

Easily uses litter tray

Unsteady getting into litter tray

What to do
Low sided litter tray and soft litter

Healthy weight

Overweight

What to do
Talk to your vet about weight management

Does your cat have these symptoms?

Yes, take them to the vet they may need pain relief.

Find out more @iCatCare on how to gently train your cat to go into the cat carrier for pain and stress free trips to the vets.